

The Blaine House

Maine's Governor's Mansion

The Blaine House is not only the home of Maine's Governors and their families while in office — it is also a public building. As such, it is in constant use. While basic upkeep of the building is taken care of by the State of Maine, there are many aspects of maintaining this historic icon and its grounds that require generous donations from private citizens and businesses alike.

In 1989, Governor McKernan and his wife, now-retired U.S. Senator Olympia Snowe, began a Blaine House restoration project. The improvements made during that time ultimately resulted in the formation of a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization, The Friends of the Blaine House, dedicated to keeping and enhancing Maine's pride in the Blaine House.
